

GARDEN VICTORY

79 Plants that our Tom Nevers deer won't eat...

IF REALLY HUNGRY, THERE'S next to nothing that our Tom Nevers deer won't eat. But here's a list of those plants that should do best in our area. This list was compiled for us by our own Chris Hestwood, who acts as a consultant to home gardeners at Bartlett's Farm.

Plants that Deer don't eat...

Nepetas	Verbana bonariensis
Russian Sage	Alliums
Lavender	Lychnis
Foxglove	Agastache
Feverfew	Stachys
Yarrow	Monkshood
Artemesia	Bronze Fennel
Santolina	Verbascum
Lambs Ears	Bleeding Heart
Salvias	Gaillardia
Lady's Mantle	Erysimum
Dianthus	Ballio
Cerastium	Poppies
Grasses	Thalictiums
Echinops	Helanium moerheim
Statice	Digitalis-Husker's
Monarda	Alkanet
Lethadora	Peonys

Shrubs that Deer don't eat...

Spirea	Butterfly Bush
Vitex	Broom
Potentilla	Lilac
Berberis	Caryopteris
Hidcote	Hypericum

Plants they don't love, but may eat just to spite you*...

Anemone	Veronicastrum
Astilbe	Phlox-junior series
Delphinium	Huchera
Siberian Iris	Crane's bill	Geranium
Chelone	Coreopsis
Solidago	Larkspur

* You can have them with a little spraying.

 Rabbits eat them, but if you can protect them until they get tall, the deer won't eat them.

Plants the deer didn't eat in Chris's old garden...

Filipendula	Dictamnus-Gas Plant
Eryngium	Asclepias
Plume Poppy	Baptisia
Penstomens	Centaurea
Colombine	Bearded Iris
Ajuga

You might also want to experiment with some of the many anti-deer sprays on the market, or put up some of that tall deer fencing. Hopefully then, they'll give up and migrate to another part of the island! ❖